Clark S. Buswell died at the home of his daughters in Dorchester, Mass., Dec. 11th. He leaves a wife, one son and three daughters. He is the last of the family of John and Prudence Abbott Buswell, early settlers of Barton. He was nearly 82 years old and belonged to the Vermont Methodist Conference, and was a man of much energy, especially in the temperance cause. He retained his interest in current events, the work of the church, etc., to the last.

The past ten days have been something of a change from the extremely warm weather experienced most of the time heretofore this winter. The thermometer has been close to the zero mark several times and a high wind has prevailed much of the time. While considerable depth of snow is reported in some places, nearly as many wagons are run, locally, as sleighs. The extraordinary weather has made some vegetation bud and bloom like spring, as may be noted in some of the town items and Robert Gilmour of this place brought to this office yesterday pussy willows well blossomed out. Several persons report having seen and heard robins.

O. V. Joslyn.

Orlando V. Joslyn, one of Barton's prominent citizens, died very suddenly at his home on Prospect street, early Friday morning of heart failure. Mr. Joslyn had been in poor health for several months, but his condition was not considered dangerous. Mr. Joslyn was born Dec. 16, 1853, at Harwick. He was married April 20, 1867, to Jane E. Hartson, who survives him. Enlisting in August, 1862, as a blacksmith in the 35th Iowa Regiment, he served for three years. He came to Barton more than forty years ago and since that time has been prominent in the business life of the town. For several years he worked at his trade of blacksmithing in the shop now owned by E. H. Pope. Retiring from this work, he purchased the house now owned by S. A. Hunt, on Cemetery hill, and engaged in the sale of agricultural implements and in the buying of wool. For many years he had been deputy sheriff, constable and tax collector and had been a most efficient and faithful officer. Several years ago he purchased from E. F. Humphrey, the house where he resided at the time of his death. He was a member of Orleans Lodge, F. and A. M., and for nearly twenty-five years served as its secretary, the term of service indicating the faithful manner in which he discharged his duties. He was prominent in G. A. R. circles, being a charter member of Quimby Post, and had served as its quartermaster for fifteen years. The funeral was held from his late residence Sunday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Warner, officiating. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Joslyn.

The Mizpah Bible class has secured Rev. H. B. Rankin, pastor of the Baptist church of Newport, for a lecture on the life of Christ, illustrated by a large chart and to be given in the Congregational church on Friday evening, Jan. 12th. Everyone is most cordially invited.

Christmas passed off very pleasantly at the M. E. church. The children all did well from start to finish. The whole entertainment was by the children and it did much credit to the committee who had the training of the children in charge. The committee were Mrs. Hattie Thurber, Mrs. Katie Hancock and Mrs. Leon Ingerson. Old Santa Claus amused the children very much. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. Mary Wilder, an aged lady, died at the home of Mrs. Jane Heerman Saturday afternoon of the infirmities of age. Mrs. Wilder had been twice married. Her first husband was Mr. Smith. By the first husband she had three sons, Frank, Alvah and George, by the second husband she had a daughter Lizzie. Her son Alvah and his family live in this town and Frank lives in Colorado. She was 87 years of age. The remains were taken to Whitefield, N. H., and placed in the family lot there after the funeral Monday at the Congregational church here.
